Hot Pace Begins to Tell On Six Day Bike Riders

Oscar Egg Causes Heaps of Trouble for Rivals by His Sprints.

GRENDA GETS $20 FROM TOM JONES

Plucky Work of Madonna Wins the Approval of Big Crowd in the Garden.

By FRED HAWTHORNE.

A series of sprints that set the 6.000 spectators in Madison Square Garden on edge marked the six-day bicycle race last night, between the hours of 8 o'clock and midnight. Some of the teams already in the rear lost more ground, as the gruelling pace told on them, and at midnight there were only fifteen teams on the track. Wohlrab and Kopsky dropped out in the morning, and Piercey, who had been weakening all day, withdrew about 2:45 o'clock p. m., after crashing to the track during a "jam." Gordon Walker, his partner, had four hours in which to get a new partner.

The offering of many prizes for five lap sprints kept the riders continually on the jump, and the records were bettered at every mile, until, at 10 o'clock, they had covered 1,446 miles, 17 miles, and 8 laps ahead of the record.

Madonna's plucky riding was largely responsible for this. For mile after mile Vincenzo whirled around the track at better than twenty-twe miles an hour. The other riders had to sweep along with the Italian, and, much as they disliked it, were forced to bend their backs to the task.

At 10:30 o'clock Madonna won his first sprint prize, and his achievement was greeted with cheers by the crowd, which has come to appreciate the little foreigner's gameness.

The good nature of Hill and the others allowed Madonna to get home in front, as the field, led by Hill, held back all the way.

The spectators were stunied for several seconds at 11 o'clock, when Pete Prunty announced that Tom Jones, manager of Jess Willard, offered $20 for a five-lap sprint.

Most of those who heard the announcement refused to believe a story of the Kewanee barber, but after some-body said that two men had a firm grip on both of Jones's arms, the race was on.

Grends went out on the last lap and shoved his wheel over the line just.

was on.

Grenda went out on the last lap and showed his wheel over the line just ahead of Drobach. The crowd gaspel when Grenda actually received the money.

Evidence that the grind is beginning to have its effect upon the nerves of the riders was shown several times during the afternoon and evening. Madonna, who has aroused the spectators to intermittent cheering by his wild sprints to make up lost ground, figured in one of these incidents.

Suter was on the track at 6:30 o'clock and developed a nosebleed, making it necessary for him to leave the race for a few minutes.

the Heights Casino man eliminated Waldron in straight games by the scores of 15-8, 17-14, it caused much surprise.

Waldron proved absolutely at a loss against the fast driving of Bull, which was a great factor in the latter's victory. Time and again Waldren would make fruitless efforts to catch the returns of his opponent. Bull paid particular attention to "placing" the ball over the tell-tale and to the corners of the court for a "kill."

However, Bull became careless in the second game in his attempts to "lay" the ball over the tell-tale, and this almost cost him the game. Five times and American Association team, will made cost him the game. Five times in the durray Hill Hotel yesterday.
